

Becoming 7 explores the joys of childhood via: Adventures, Activities, Games, Special Days, Memories, Books, Movies, Health, Safety, Food, Nature, Toys, and Products.

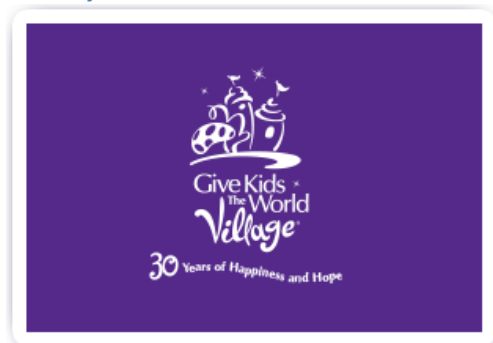

Why, Becoming 7?

- * As a child one of my reading books in school was 7 is Magic. That has always stayed with me. 7 is my favorite number.
- * 7 is often the age that magical thinking ceases. Around this age there is a transition in how a child thinks. Thinking begins to involve cause and effect.
- * 7 is commonly referred to as the age of reason. The age when a child knows right from wrong. One could say the age when innocence begins to fade.
- * It is also the time when frustrations of learning rules and boundaries cease and things begin to click making life easier for everyone around the 7 year old. To a 7 year old, it means the world is a better place.
- * 7 year old children are inquisitive. They want to know how and why. They have become miniature scientists. Always coming up with a new hypothesis and testing it to see if they are right.
- * Generally a 7 year old still has good self-esteem.

Ohmygosh! What a wonderful review of Griddles Vol. 2 ! I am so impressed with the time you took to post pictures of the steps in my "chart-art" coloring process and then add an explanation. Plus you described how much fun it is...which was one of my main intents in designing these books. And you cheated?! I'm shocked. LOL. Your frog is great---especially the fly! That's the 7-year old in you showing---which is the perfect age for Griddles. One happy fan sent a photo of the cat/bird design she selected. She embraced her "inner kitty" and made him turquoise and orange. It's posted on my Amazon page: www.Amazon.com/Lorraine-Holnback-Brodek.

Your blog is terrific! I loved reading about the evolution of your name. I morphed from Lorraine, to Lorrie in high school, to LoLo (means "crazy" [good] in Hawaiian), then to Grandma Lo. Now...I'm just Lo.

Congratulations on the Goodreads Giveaway. Obviously, I'm thrilled that you were one of the winners and a big thank-you (mahalo) for sharing your experience with all your readers! I shall now try to return the favor and post your review on my Facebook page---which I'm trying to master. It's really hard trying to teach an old 77 year old dog new tricks. There are those "7's" again!
